

YWCA Initiates W.U.S. Activities With Balloting on Cutest Babies

The YWCA launches the annual World University Service Drive today with a "Cutest Couple" contest, wherein students and faculty may ballot for the anonymous boy and girl baby picture of their choice for a penny. Voting will continue during W.U.S. Week, February 11-15. Proceeds from all events will be sent to the international organization, which concentrates on assisting overseas students in the fields of health, food and lodging, and educational activities.

Monday, traditional "Apple Munch" and "Red" Day, students may purchase glossy apples in the cafeteria for 10¢ and enjoy them during classes. To avoid paying a 25¢ fine, all collegians must wear red that can be easily seen, in addition to cosmetics or small bows. Penalized persons may buy red badges from "deputies" to avoid further fines.

The annual Beta-Y.W. volleyball match will provide excitement during the sixth period Tuesday. Admission will be paid at the gymnasium door.

Auction of Services

Wednesday will feature an auction of services and of "roaring twenties" costumes to be worn the following day. Lloyd Buehner III and Carl Gilmore will officiate as auctioneers.

"Roaring twenties" dress will characterize Thursday. Nonconformists will be fined 25¢.

For a small charge, the Engineers Club will shine shoes for conscientious dressers on Friday. A talent show on Friday night, featuring a "special attraction," will climax the week's activities. Each organization will present a skit or another form of talent which has been approved by the program committee.

Y. members will post a thermometer showing the total money raised, a graph revealing what each club has given, and a model lion with sections marked off to represent funds raised by freshmen, sophomores, and faculty.

Organization Award

The organization which contributes most toward this year's goal of $250 will receive an award; freshmen, sophomores, or faculty giving most as a group will also be recognized. During W.U.S. Week, anyone who wishes to make extra donations will find banks in the cafeteria, the library, and the office.

Judith Cooper will serve as chairman of the drive; Pat Trewyn, co-chairman; and Linda Conboy, assistant chairman. The following Y. members have charge of projects: Mary Jane Archer, Y.W. volleyball team; Karen Church, banks; Linda Downen and Susan Keller, "Roaring Twenties" Day; Janice Lofton, Beta volleyball team and "Apple Munch" and "Red" Day; Judy Lofton and Elayne Roby, the auction; Patty Longstreet, "Apple Munch" and "Red" Day. Sally Stoots drew the model lion. Miss Vera Steininger serves as advisor to the organization.

Vienna Choir Boys Will Present Third Community Concert Feb. 22

Austria's world famous Vienna Choir Boys will appear in Joplin at 8 o'clock, Friday night, February 22, in the High School auditorium, Twentieth Street and Indiana Avenue. Juco activity tickets will permit students to attend the third presentation in the 1962-63 series of the Community Concert Association.

The program will include religious selections, a short operetta in costume, and Viennese waltzes, and folk songs. Twenty-two members ranging in ages from 8 to 14 years make up the choir, whose singing has thrilled television audiences for years. They were featured in Walt Disney's "Almost Angels," which appeared in Joplin in November.

Holy Roman Emperor Maximilian I founded the Vienna Choir Boys in 1498. The Hapsburgs subsidized the choir until 1918, but since that time it has become self sufficient. So that each boy would have a chance to travel, they provided for a rotating system. The touring program has a two-fold purpose of supporting the school and broadening the boys' education.

Today there are three choirs. Two travel and one remains in Austria. A conductor, teacher, and nurse accompany each traveling group. This is the nineteenth tour of North America for Vienna Choir Boys.

Candidates are selected on scholastic ability, musical talent, and physical stamina. Less than 100 boys are admitted to the Seminary School in Vienna and only one out of 10 applicants is accepted.

Each boy has a two-year training period before he enters the choir. However, his formal education continues after he enters the choir. By attending classes in the morning, the boys are free to devote the afternoon to singing. Many decide to make a career of music after they leave. Some famous musicians who were once choir boys include Joseph Haydn, Franz Schubert, and Igor Gorin, who was the artist on the first program of this concert series.

Miss Juco Pageant to Determine Winner of Good-Grooming Contest

Nominees for the Miss Juco contest to select the best-groomed coed on campus have for the last week been subject to observation by judges who still remain incognito. Judges will continue to note the girls' daily campus appearance until the Miss Juco Pageant sixth hour on Wednesday, February 20, in the auditorium.

The pageant will consist of a fashion review in which each candidate will model three outfits: a typical campus costume, a daytime off-campus ensemble, and a party or cocktail length dress. Miss Juco's coronation will take place during the final minutes of the pageant after the ratings of daily appearance at College and the style review have been tabulated. The stage band, under direction of Russell Benzamin, will provide music.

A panel of judges selected as

College Engineers To Host Professionals

The annual Engineers Club dinner will be held Thursday, February 21, in the cafeteria with the Southwest Chapter of Missouri Professional Engineers as guests. Dr. George Clark from the Research Center of Missouri School of Mines at Rolla will speak on "The Anatomy of Explosives."

For the first time, the Professional Engineers will confer a plaque upon an exceptional engineering student. Outstanding chemistry, math, and physics students of the Freshman class will also receive awards from their respective departments.

Individuals in positions to notice grooming include three faculty members and four prominent students. They will base decisions upon candidates' posture, condition of hair, general neatness, use of make-up, a suitable campus look, individuality, and appropriateness of dress. The principal aim of the contest is to encourage coeds' pride in their appearance. Emphasis rests upon good taste and neatness instead of upon actual money invested in a wardrobe.

Among other honors, Miss Juco will compete in a national contest sponsored by "Glamour" magazine. Pictures of the J.J.C. entrant will vie with those of girls from colleges and universities throughout the United States. "Glamour" offers special prizes for the top ten best-dressed college girls and will feature honorable mention winners in a fall issue.

Spring Enrollment Hits Highest Mark

Crossroads Ball Tonight Features Queen Crowning

The annual Crossroads Ball will take place from 9 o'clock until midnight tonight at the Elks Club. Crowning the Crossroads Queen will highlight the evening.

"The dance, semi-formal this year, promises to be the most outstanding ever. A special attraction is the DelReys, coming directly from the Rockwood Club in Fayetteville," says Gayleen McKenzie, editor of The Crossroads.

Candidates for Crossroads royalty, selected by popular vote, are Suzanne Jameson, Virginia Johnston, Judy Lewis, Gretchen Told, and Margee Webb. They will be escorted in the coronation by their respective campaign managers, Larry Boucher, Don Jackson, Gregg Campbell, Mike Spicer, and Warren Clover.

Carl Gilmore, Student Senate President, will crown the queen at approximately 10 o'clock. She will receive a bouquet of roses from Lois Ramsey, 1962 Crossroads Queen.

Theme of the dance will be "Moments to Remember." Decorations will be carried out in red, appropriate to the Valentine season. Larry Longstreet and Geneva Sailor are co-chairmen of the decorations committee. Miss Venus Yount and Arthur Boles serve as faculty advisors to The Crossroads.

Tickets to the dance cost $1.50 per couple and may be purchased at the door or from any yearbook staff member or queen candidate.

The Natural Look

"The Natural Look" returns to the coeds of J.J.C. In and around the College halls you see less and less of the French roll, the bun, the extreme bouffant, and the startling hair color changes. In place of these coiffures are the flipped ends, the varying lengths of the pageboy, and the numerous short hair styles, as well as other hair-dos which are longer and closer to the head.

Along with the change from bouffant to natural in hair styles has come a change in the amount of make-up worn. There is less "heavy" eye make-up, and the lovely complexions of coeds are coming into light.

Can the trend toward the natural look be attributed to increased knowledge of good grooming? Or, is it the result of a too-crowded schedule of tests, parties, dates, jobs, research papers, and every-day assignments? Perhaps both have contributed. But, whatever the cause, let's hope "The Natural Look" is here to stay—It's much more becoming.

Part of Journalism Class Observes Typesetting

"A very simple process," explained the typesetter to members of the journalism class on a recent field trip to Hunter's Printing Company. The class soon realized, however, that the process under demonstration was simple only because it utilized many pounds of equipment and skilled hands.

Our Registrar

While most of us were enjoying a short vacation between semesters, the registrar, and secretaries, were busily averaging and recording grades. Under the capable supervision of Miss Margaret Mitchell, accurate transcripts of each student's scholastic achievement were filed. According to Dean Leon Billingsly, "Our registrar keeps a very excellent set of transcripts of which any college would be proud."

Not only does Miss Mitchell handle academic records, but she keeps us on the path to graduation. She has catalogs from numerous universities so she may answer any question without delay.

In addition, she handles the activity fund. The registrar often spends time counseling various club treasurers as to the wise use of funds and in training them how to keep accurate financial records.

By cutting out articles that appear in the newspaper about our faculty and students, Miss Mitchell keeps a history for the College.

Even though varied activities keep her busy, she always finds time to be immaculately groomed. We should indeed be proud of our excellent registrar!

K.C. Philharmonic Schedules Concerts For Child and Adult Audiences February 14

Coming to Joplin Thursday, February 14, for two specially designed programs of symphonic music will be the 80-piece Kansas City Philharmonic orchestra under the direction of Dr. Hans Schwieger. The orchestra will present a concert at 2 p.m. at Joplin High School for young people in the elementary and junior high school. A program at 8 o'clock that night will be slanted for college students and adults.

Comprising the evening performance will be such familiar compositions as Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony" and Brahms' "First Symphony in C Minor." Karl Maris Von Weber's overture to "Der Freischuetz" will open the concert, and at midway, George Gray, a Kansas City high school senior, will play the fourth movement of Beethoven's Concerto in G Major, for piano and orchestra. Dr. Schwieger will close the program with Franz Liszt's dramatic tone poem, "Les Preludes."

Students will be admitted for $1 at either performance. Admission for adults is $1.50 for the afternoon concert and $2 for the night performance. Tickets are available at all downtown music stores.

Peace Corps Tests To Be Given at P.O.

Possible Peace Corps candidates may take tests March 9, 1963, at the main post office in Joplin. Later testing dates are April 27, June 8, and August 24.

According to Jules Pagano, director of professional and technical division of the Corps, tests are completely non-competitive and comparable to aptitude tests. Results facilitate selection of best qualified candidates.

Although Corps officials do not disqualify applicants for failing to take the test, they do urge them to do so because it provides a further insight into their aptitude for specific Peace Corps assignments.

Anyone over 18 years of age may apply for service. A college degree is not required for all projects, but officials definitely consider a degree an asset to the candidate. Therefore, the Corps suggests that most college students complete their degrees before entering the Peace Corps.

Listen!

"Concert in FM" will open this Sunday afternoon with the overture to "Russlan and Ludimilla," from the opera by Michail Glinka. The London Philharmonic, conducted by Edward Downs, will play the lively and melodious piece.

Two of the five representatives attended last year's MMUN. Daniel Hoyt, a pre-law and economics major, will serve on the Political and Security Committee this year. James C. Webster, also a pre-law major, will serve on the Special Political Committee.

Nancy Koos, a psychology major, will attend sessions of the Social, Humanitarian, and Cultural Committee. Nancy was a member of the Student Senate Committee responsible for sending the first delegation to the MMUN.

Alternate representatives include Millie Blankenship, Carl Gilmore, Bob Howard, Julia Miller, and Barbara Stone.

Delegates have been granted their request, filed last spring, to represent Argentina in this year's conference.

During the next few weeks, delegates and alternates will engage in an intensive program of preparation, conducted by Mrs. Mary Kirk Kelly, advisor of the campus organization. Each member must be acquainted with the real poli-

With the help of the campus Collegiate Council for the United Nations, delegates will undertake a fund-raising campaign in order to defray their expenses. The CCUN raised $50 of the $60 registration fee at the United Nations' Day Dinner last fall, and the delegates will pay their own housing expenses. Food and transportation costs remain.

All meetings of the MMUN will be held at the Chase Plaza Hotel, where delegates will be housed.

Seventy-five delegations from 60 colleges or universities, distributed over 15 states, plan to attend the event.

College to Offer Physical Therapy Curriculum Next Fall

Physical therapy will be presented for the first time next year as a sample curriculum in the Joplin Junior College Catalog, according to Miss Margaret Mitchell.

This course requires four years' college training. The first two years consist of general college work and can be completed here at Joplin Junior College.

Miss Marilyn Blanke, Educational Director, Occupational Therapy Curriculum, University of Missouri Medical Center, reports that the junior year of this curriculum will be offered at the University of Missouri for the first time beginning September, 1963.

Miss Blanke suggests that students planning to enter this field should try to complete these courses in their first two years of college: nine hours of English, ten hours of biological science including zoology; ten hours of physical science consisting of five hours of chemistry and five hours of physics; three hours of math; six hours of sociology; four hours of physical education; five hours of psychology; two hours of hygiene; and seven hours of electives.

Joplin Crushes Highland, 106-69

Gary Keeling netted 24 points as the fast and fiery Joplin Lions stunned the Highland, Kansas, Scotties, overwhelming them 106-69 in an Interstate Conference battle January 28 at Memorial Hall.

Keeling netted 10 fielders and four free shots for 24 points. Lion guard Kenny Bowman, highscorer this far in the season, hit 11 field goals and one charity for 23 tallies. Bruce Hammett and Sammy Knight hit 21 and 13 points respectively for Joplin. Knight also put on a good show with rebounds.

Joplin took an early, but slim, lead and never trailed in the game. Highland managed to tie the score twice, both times late in the first half, 32-all and 34-all. Keeling hit three straight to put the Lions back into the lead; and at halftime, the score favored them, 48-43.

The Scotsmen danced back to narrow the score 52-51. Art Cortez netted one for two points and collected an extra on a Highland foul, pumping the score 55-51. Bowman let loose with six straight fielders. Bruce Hammett, Cortez, Bowman, and Keeling hit again to take the high road home and push the lead to 80-55 with six minutes left to play. Final score was 106-69.

Big John Lucas, six-foot Highland cager, paced his team with 24 points. He hit nine field goals and six charities. Teammate Gary Schultz added 20 points to the cause.

Joplin opened against the Indians of Lawrence, Kansas, Haskell Institute, Friday, February 1, at Joplin.

Artists Guild to Show 'Odd Man Out' Feb. 18

The Ozark Artists Guild plans to present the third drama in the 1962-63 foreign film series at 7:30 Monday night, February 18, at Spiva Art Center, 406 Sergeant Avenue. From the screenplay and original story by F. L. Green and Robert C. Sherriff, the British picture "Odd Man Out" reveals in poetic tragedy the last six hours of Johnny McQueen's life.

James Mason portrays McQueen, an Irish revolutionist who robs a Belfast flax mill to obtain party funds and is gravely wounded. The hunted McQueen, representing anguished and forsaken man, tests the absence or presence of charity in those he meets: party cohorts; his sweetheart, Kathleen, portrayed by Kathleen Ryan; a constable who dutifully pursues him; and Father Tom, an elderly priest who shows concern for McQueen's soul.

In his plight, the fugitive encounters a medical student with injured pride who bandages his wounds; an artist, played by Robert Newton, who endeavors to paint the "dying look" in his eyes; and a canary dealer who schemes to sell him to the highest bidder.

Directed by Sir Carol Reed, "Odd Man Out" paints a picture of a melancholy city at night. Abbey Theater Players Dennis O'Dea, W. G. Fay, Elwyn Brook-Jones, and F. J. McCormick also star in the movie.

Those interested should contact Harrison Kash or an official at the Spiva Art Center to purchase a ticket.

Delegates to Revise College Constitution

Student Senate members recently voted to call a constitutional convention. According to Senate President Carl Gilmore, the constitution is outdated in some instances and inaccurate in other sections.

Class meetings will be held soon after February 19 for the purpose of electing delegates to the convention. Each class will choose the same number of delegates as it has senators, Gilmore said.

He explained that elected representatives will meet first in one large convention and then probably will split into smaller working groups.

The Senate leader urges all those interested to study the constitution carefully and to run as candidates during the class meeting.
